

Service...Above and Beyond

"Being the secretary means you're usually the first person to be seen by the public who come to the schools, and your professional behavior in the office and over the telephone puts the school's best foot forward every day."

*-Nancy Herring,
Secretary/Bookkeeper*

Administrative Assistant/Secretarial Network

The CESA #4 Administrative Assistant/Secretarial Network offers opportunities for professional development, collaboration, and support. A professional learning community of administrative assistants/secretarial staff provides opportunities to positively improve the office environment, records management, communication, and stay informed of DPI and state requirements. Administrative assistants and office staff are the first people students, parents, community members, and teachers interact with upon entering the school. These important positions provide multidimensional assistance and care to all within the educational environment.
